All mutual funds, regardless of performance, must distribute to shareholders any net realized gains from the sale of portfolio investments. Generally speaking, market appreciation increases the likelihood that a fund will distribute capital gains. There is also the potential that a fund will pay a capital gain distribution during a year of negative or market neutral performance. Past distributions are not indicative of future trends.

A Fund's closing Net Asset Value (NAV) on the ex-dividend date will be reduced by the amount of the distribution, plus or minus any market activity for the day. Please consult your tax advisor for information specific to your particular situation.

Mutual fund investing involves risk. The value of your investment in the Funds could go down as well as up. You may lose money investing in the Funds, including the loss of principal. Multi-manager and multi-style management may lead to overlapping securities transactions and higher transaction expenses compared to single investment management styles. Outcomes depend on the skill of the sub-advisers and adviser and the allocation of assets amongst them.

The Fund's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses must be considered carefully before investing.
